Judge Humphreys, at chambers, upon hearing the petition did not issue the order prayed for, stating that it appeared to his satisfaction proper that a license should be granted the executor for the sale of said leasehold, but the same should be sold at public auction, and not at private sale. He thereby authorized, empowered and licensed the said Robt, W. Cathcart to sell, transfer, assign and set over the said lease to such person as may purchase the same at public auction. DECISION FOR LO KAM,

"One who goes upon the premises of another by night for a lawful purpose, and on the invitation of one rightfully occupying the premises, without the knowledge or consent of the owner, remains over night, is not there 'without lawful excuse.' "
The above is taken from the syllabus tice Galbraith, which is concurred in by Chief Justice Frear and J. A. Magoon, in place of Perry, and a new trial is ordered. Justice Galbraith states in his opin-ion that the defendant excepted to the charge of the Circuit Judge to the jury above statute.

While there is some conflict in the evidence, the testimony tends to support the following facts: That Mr. Bolte, of Judd street, had a number of Aslatic servants; these together with a Chinese fisherman, with the consent and knowledge of Mr. Bolte, occupied a building on the premises as "ser-vants' quarters." On January 25, with-out the consent of Mr. Bolte, the defendant called at the quarters at 7 or 8 in the evening for the purpose of col-lecting $100 due him from one of the oclecting $100 due him from one of cupants, the Chinese fisherman. The money was collected and the defendant lingered to talk over business and social ingered to talk over business and social matters until about 9:30 o'clock. The defendant was then afraid to venture out for fear of being robbed and on the invitation of one of the occupants, stayed over night, returned the next merning to his own residence, and was afterwards arrested for violating the above statute.

Lo Kam was not charged with vio-lating a Board of Health regulation, and that part of the Circuit Judge's charge to the jury the Justice says was not pertinent to the case at issue.

Having gone upon the premises for a lawful purpose it is held that Lo Kam was not there "without lawful excuse," and being rightfully on the premises, the Justice questions whether or not he had not lawful authority for remaining over night on the invitation of one who was a rightful occupant of the house.

NEARING THE FINAL STAGE

British Operations in South Africa.

BULLER DOES GOOD WORK

He Occupies Machadadorp and French Gets Into Elands-

NEW YORK, August 29 .- A dispatch to the Tribune from London says:

There is much inclination to believe that the operations in which Lord Roberts is now engaged against General Botha are destined to form the final stage of the South African war from a Pretoria report cabled to the effect that the Boers in the Transvaal capital believe that Botha will abandon the contest if beaten on this occasion and that Presidents Krueger and Steyn will then flee to Delagoa Bay. But these rumors have been repeated and proved fallacious frequently enough before and it is impossible to pronounce definitely that the Boer leaders believe the limit of resistance to have been reached. The reappearance of De Wet in the Orange Free State and the activity of the Boers on Buller's communica tion in Natal, would rather point the other way. If it had been determined to stake everything on the result of Botha's stand in the eastern Transvaal, it would hardly seem worth while to revive the campaign in other quarters

So far the operations between the Boer and British main armies have been somewhat indecisive. Movements, as Lord Roberts says in his dispatch on Monday eve, are necessarily slow on account of the great extent and difficult nature of the country which forms the scene of the battles. He, however, considers his advance going on satisfactorily and regards General Buller's engagement of the 27th as an important success. The result of the day's fighting was that the Boers withdrew their line by some two miles, allowing Buller to capture a strong position within their outer semi-circle of defenses west of the Dalmanutha Railway station. The question now arises whether the British will be able to force the fighting so as to hold the enemy in position and compel him to accept the defeat which superior numbers and more powerful artillery should be able to inflict or is the nature of the country such that Gen Botha, though driven back from one vantage ground to another, will eventually be able to retreat in time to save his guns and transport. If previous ex-perience is a guide the Boers will delay the British advance as long as they can do so safely, but will then retire at leisure before the invaders can secure a decisive victory.

Charles Williams, the well known military expert, believes Lord Roberts present intention of returning to England in the course of October, so as to be ready to relieve Lord Wolseley on November 1st, as commanderin-chief of the British army. In such event General Buller may be asked to resume command of the forces in South

NEW YORK, August 29 .- A dispatch to the Times from Paris says: With regard to the Czar's rumored visit to Paris, the French press on the whole, seems firmly persuaded that it is undertaken with a view of raising another Russian loan in Paris. As evidence the preliminary visit of M. de Witte, the Russian Finance Minister,

AN AFFRONT TO HARMONY.

The proposition to nominate three candidates for the Senate in the Fourth district and three in the Fifth on a ticket which the whole Island will vote, comes from a few Republican politicians who have scant respect for the wishes of the majority. The fair way to proceed is to give every Republican a chance to frame the ticket he is expected to support. The schemers for district nominations argue this way: Give us the Fourth district and we can name Senators of our own class; then as the Fifth district is lacking in S-n atorial timber we may be able to induce it to borrow some from the Fourth. If the two districts get together we shall be outvoted and a ticket may be made up in opposition to City and County government and to some of our other plans. So it is safer for us to go ahead and divide the nominating privilege. We may whip the enemy in detail but cannot do it if he is permitted to act as a unit,

The Advertiser had hoped that this kind of politics would end with the late primaries and that one faction, if factions were left, would stop trying to take an unfair advantage of the other. Perhaps we can entertain some hope of it yet for the Republican Territorial Committee is apparently not committed, as a body, to the two-district scheme. We venture the suggestion that the farther it gets away from it the better for party harmony-and party narmony is, if we understand its organs aright, the noonday prayer and the midnight supplication of the man-

THE HILO SCHEME.

The Bulletin states the claims of Hilo upon the Republican Convention as

The first and all-important claim Hilo has to make for the Territorial gathering is the utter lack of aggressive activity among the Republicans of the Hilo dis-trict. * Reports are constantly coming from Hilo showing a lack of or-

And yet one of the Hilo Republican papers, a short time ago, asked what was the matter with the Oahu Republicans that they did not wake up and take hold of politics as Republicans of the big island had done? Hilo has a candidate for Congress in Judge Little; Loebentein is in active pursuit of a Senatorship; the Tribune has begun to fight McStocker and there is as much politics to the square inch in Hilo as anywhere in the group. In fact the rainy city will probably get mad when it is told that it cannot even run its political affairs without Honolulu aid.

There is really no sound party reason for going to Hilo and there are many good ones against it. The way steam-ers run makes Honolulu the central point of the group. It would be more convenient for even the Kona people of Hawaii to come here than to go to Hilo; and as for the majority of the other islanders, they are in the same boat. True, certain factional objects might be secured at Hilo which are not attainable here, but we will not accuse the Republican Territorial Committee, which is supposed to represent th whole party, of a factional motive.

Judging from John Wise's open letter in the Independent it looks as if the haoles who thought they had educated him got hold of a gold brick.

BRYAN TO THE POPULISTS.

Mr. Bryan's address to the Populists, which appears in the latest files, is a characteristic piece of special pleading—a lawyer's ex parte brief which can only be dealt with intelligently by taking into consideration the facts on

Touching the monetary issue Mr. Bryan says:

If an increase in the volume of the currency since his, although impromised by the Republicans, and unexpected, has brought improvement in industrial conditions, this improvement, bettead of answering the arguments put forth in favor of bimetal smoothy confirms the contention of those who instated that more money would make better times. The Republican party, however, while claiming credit for the increase in circulation, makes no permanent provision for an adequate supply of standard money. It denies the necessity for more real money, while it permits national banks to expans the volume of paper promises to pay money.

The increase in the volume of money since 1896 is an increase of stable money, of gold from Alaska, Colorado, California and from the markets of Europe, Asia and Australia. On this account it has helped to make better times throughout the country. It by no means follows, as Mr. Bryan declares, that an increase in the volume of unstable money, composed of a metal of fluctuating value, would have the same effect. All countries that ever tried the silver basis in modern times were soon drained of gold and, with the exception of China, they have come back to the gold standard. Japan did so within two years past. Had the United States taken up in 1896 with free sliver in the ratio of 16 to 1, it would now be flooded with the white metal and no man would know, when he went to bed at night, what his savings would be worth in the morning. No country can prosper under such manicial un-certainty, no matter what its resources may be. It is not, as Mr. Bryan argues, the amount of money in a country that tells, but the amount of good The paper bank notes Mr. Bryan speaks of are good because they are redeemable in a coin which is either gold or is exchangeable for gold,

The Republican party is now committed to a currency system which necessites a perpetual acht, while the Populist finds himself in agreement with the Democrats, who believe in paying off the national debt as soon as possible,

The Republican party has no new currency system. The one it advocates was in force during the two-thirds payment of the national debt and it will not prevent the payment of the remaining one-third. The only threat of a perpetual debt which this generation has seen came of the Cleveland tariff act -a measure for which Mr. Bryan voted-and which, in three years' time increased the national obligations by a quarter of a billion dollars.

The fact that the trusts support the Republican party ought to be sufficient proof that they expect protection from it. The Republican party cannot be relied upon to extinguish the trusts as long as it draws its campaign contributions from their overflowing vaults.

The trusts have never got protection from the Republican party save such as all business corporations have the right to expect of their common government, namely, the reservation of the home market for home manufacturers and the continued stability of money values. Against the exactions of trusts, whether of Republican or Democratic origin, the Republican party has waged unceasing warfare. The Sherman anti-trust law was enacted by it: and when the Supreme Court emasculated that statute the party tried to crush criminal trusts by means of a Constitutional amendment which the Democrats in Congress defeated.

Since he (the farmer) sells his surplus in a foreign market, he is not a beneficiary of the tariff, and since he produces merchandise and not money, he does not profit by the appreciation of the dollar.

The farmer tried to sell his surplus in a foreign market during the years of the Democratic tariff but found to his dismay that the foreign producer was underselling him in his own market. Every year he was worse off than in the year before. Just as soon as the Dingley tariff was put into force his fortunes began to mend. The revival of home manufacturing enabled the mill workers and all other industrial people to spend more money on creature comforts. They bought of the farmer and the farmer thrived. To be sure he also had good luck abroad owing to the drouth in India and the low crop yield of other competing lands on the world's wheat belt; but since these conditions passed away his lot has been improving steadily. Where the farmers of the Middle West were cursing their luck four years ago they are now buy-ing planos and lifting mortgages. Tariff prosperity saved them and it is tariff prosperity they want to keep.

If 100,000 men are withdrawn from the ranks of the producers and placed as a burden on the backs of those who remain, it must be longer hours, harder work and greater sacrifices for those who tell; and the farmer, while he pays more than his share of the expenses of the Army, has no part in any contracts or development of companies, and his sons are less likely to fill the life positions in the Army than the sons of those who, by reason of wealth or political prominence, exert influence at Washington. ECCH HOLLOW SOME

There is no proposition to have a standing army of 100,000; none at least which commits the Republican party. The present army, with war going on, s not that large and this army will be reduced nearly one-half within a year. But assuming for the sake of argument that the Republican party proposes to recruit 100,000 men, Mr. Bryan's deductions do not follow. He says the the segregation of so many men from the ranks of producers means longer hours, harder work and greater sacrifices for those who toil. On the contrary it means so many vacant jobs for men who want them and are ready to fill Where the population of a country increases 4000 per day there are always people on hand to take any work that is offered. A million people may die every year in America and not affect the labor market; then how could the recruitage of 100,000 soldlers do so?

So far as the farmers getting nothing out of the army is concerned, Mr. Bryan knows better. They have to feed it; their sons constitute now, as always, the majority of commissioned officers; and whatever lands the Army annexes adds to the home market which the farmer enjoys. His flour and forage now go to Porto Rico, Cuba and the Philippines in a quantity

But even the menace of militarism is but a part of the question of imperialism. The policy contemplated by the Republican party nullifies every principle set forth in the Declaration of Independence, strikes a blow at popular government and robs the Nation of its moral prestige.

The policy of the Republican party is the policy of which the Democratic party boasted in its platform of 1884; a policy Col. Bryan volunteered to assist by force of arms; a policy that is spreading our institutions to the remote parts of the earth. Its ultimate effect will be the erection of popular government in regions that never knew it before.

Carefully analyzed Mr. Bryan's address is a tissue of assumptions and false logic. Great orator as he is, he ought to be a plaything of any well-informed Republican debater in this canvass.

that he made no comments on the sea-manship of the crew of the La Paloma, nor on the speed of the boat. Mr. Ho-bron, like the gallant yachtsman he is, attributes his winning the race to the good luck that accompanied the Dew-ey, and not to any superiority of seiling ey, and not to any superiority of sailing knowledge. A wrong impression was created by statements alleged to have been made by Mr. Hobron which he did not make. Those who know his modest disposition could not credit any boastful speeches on his part. The fact was that there was considerable joking and laughing at the finish of the yachts, and the words of others were attributed to him.

He Writes of the Narrow Escape of Himself and Party at Fangize.

He says in part:

Tsingtau-one hundred miles.

At that date no alarming telegrams nor other messages had reached Weihslen other than the news brought by me. At 18 o'clock on Friday a special messenger came from Mr. Cornwell, who was in charge of a ship sent by our efficient consul, Mr. Fowler, to the junk port of Yang-Kiaao-Kau, fifty miles northeast of Welhslen. This message urged the immediate coming of our people to the steam-er. We decided the first party should go there, and they started on Saturday at 9 a. m. Meanwhile we had dispatched spe-cial couriers to recall the Misses Bough-ton and Hawes, and I remained alone to escort these women and to attend to the thousand and one emergencies likely to

On Saturday Miss Roughton arrived. and on Sunday we had the usual Chinese service-fated to be our last at Weihsten for many a day. At daylight on Mon-day Miss Hawes came, having travelled all night. We three then worked hard to pack the most valuable small belongings, and to provide for the various de-partments of our large mission plant. The schools-boys' and girls' high schoolshad already been dismissed (a thing most providential). We sent away the few remaining school girls to their homes—these bad stayed over for the vacation. By this time ugly rumors were affoat, and our Christians and helpers advised us to leave. This was consoling, for usually they are very averse to the foreigners all leaving. At 4 p. m. one of our native pastors. Li Ping I, came with a cart to take away some goods of his own and others. While loading the cart an unruly crowd pushed in at our gate. The gate-man sent for me, saying he could not restrain them. I took a cane and went up, supposing I could get them to be-

By that time they had attacked our wall and smashed the tile work or coping thereon. I drove them away—they were mostly small boys—and held the gateway till Mr. Li's cart went out. At once they attacked the cart, and in a moment stole everything in it. I could do nothing out-side, and so shut the large gate against the mob's return.

Meanwhile, seeing the sudden turn in affairs, I had dispatched a letter to the Yamen asking for a few soldiers to protect the place. Returning to our houses I advised the women to go to my house as the most secure, and wait for me. I ran back to find the dispensary windows smashed and a howling mob on the high-er ground to the northwest storming the place with bricks and tiles. I ran back, took from the safe taels 10 of sycee and I in Mexicans, as provision against flight. locked the safe and returned to try to keep back the mob till help should come from Yamen. The lives of many depend from Yamen. The lives of many depended upon keeping back the mob. I ran forward amid shower of bricks and tiles, and at twenty paces warned them back. They jeered at me. A brick hit my foot, alightly injuring but not disabling the defending garrison. The mob fell back, and just then a cavalryman appeared brandishing his gun. He was from the Yamen. I saluted him cordially and asked him to help. I then opened the wicket gate and our large gate (only large enough for one help. I then opened the wicket gate and our larke gate (only large enough for one person to enter) and ran out to the north-west corner of the compound, whence the mob had withdrawn. The horseman started around the compound, presumably to see if there was an attack on the other side. He never again appeared, and soon the crowd, cowed for the while by the arrival of the soldier, began to hoot at me and say the Yamen would not help at me and say the Yamen would not help us. I feared the man had returned, and my fears were correct. I afterward learn-ed that he had not been sent out to help, but was casually returning from other

It was now about 7 p. m., and being at time of longest day the sun was still high. My hope and prayer then was to keep back the mob until sunset, so that we could escape under cover of darkness. I took up my position at the corner of the compound outside. They stood still, and soon said, "Let's scatter." They were undecided what to do, and at this point the presence of one soldler from the Yamen would have averted the calamity he human help came. I stood my ground quicity and waited. They said, "More fursical," A few started toward me, but they slunk back. At 7:45 they made an onset. Some had crept along the bank of the stream near our place and emerged behind me. I saw my disadvantage, and warned those to the northwest to halt. They came on, yelling and throwing stones. I ran for the gate amid a fusillade of missies. There was no queston but that they intended to kill me. I got in safe, and ran up the street, to find the mob had broken in our unused south gate and were swarming up the street.

Going in at Miss Boughton's gate and around by the east private pathway. Joined our women. We barricaded the doors and windows with furniture and closed the large sliding doors between the dining room and sitting room and went upstairs. Our servants and several Chi-nese women were with us. It was now o'clock, the exact hour we had previously set for a community prayer meeting for the safety of our Christians. We had a few short, earnest prayers, then the ery was raised by the Chinese women, "The chapel is on fire!" I knew the time had come to run for it. Going downstairs we found the front yard free from the mob, but could hear the crash of windows. dows in the rear of the house. Here a most remarkable thing came to light, which saved our lives. I had had a short Rev. E. W. Thwing, the well known worker among the Chinese here, has learned with much eatisfaction of the safety of many of his friends in China. He said, "I have been concerned as to the position of Rev. Frank H. Chalfant who went to China with me first in 1887, the was living at Weinsien in the Shantung province. The entire mission was destroyed, hospital, schools and missionary homes. It was a most trying and exciting time. Mr. Chalfant himself tells this thrilling story in a letter which he writes under date of June 27, from Fangtze, which is nine miles south of Weihsien, where he found refuge at some German coal mines. Has ave in part:

We quietly walked through fields to Li-Kia-Chwang, a friendly village, and thence turned south. It was growing dark. Three Chinese servants were with the besides two non-Christian men who

You shall have received the news by eable from Che Foo under date of yesterday that Welhsien is a ruin, and that all the missionaries escaped. The compound was burned and looted at 8 p. m. on Monday, June 25. On June 19 I was to have escorted my wife and Mrs. Crossette and my nine-year-old son Ned from Tsipgtau back to Welhsien. On the eve of starting came the news of the bombarding at Tien-Tain and the fight at the Casant prayer for me by our young women and Christians. Their party was ue, besides two non-Christian men who Tsingtau back to Weihslen. On the eve of starting came Lie news of the bombarding at Tien-Tsin and the fight at the Taku forts at the mouth of the Pel-Ho (river). This caused us to decide it unadvisable to take the women to the interior, so I returned myself on the 19th in company with a German engineer, Mr. Axt, who was coming to this place (Fangtze). Reaching Weihslen on the evening of June 21 I found the following persons at home: Mr. and Mrs. Fitch and their two children, Mrs. Fariss and her three children, Dr. Edna Parks and my little daughter, Margaret. The absent ones were Dr. Faries and son, David, at Shanghal; Miss Boughton, away examining her schools, and Miss Hawes, fifty miles distant teaching a class of women. Those of us at the station decided it was expedient to leave. Mr. Fitch volunteered to escort the women and children then on the place, leaving on Saturday. The plan was to go direct to Tsingtau—one hundred miles.

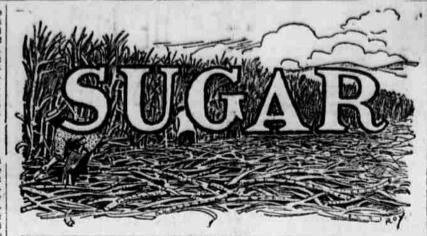

At the date news of the bomback fear. This was doubtless due to the increase in the sum of cessant prayer for me by our young women and Christians. Their party was most noble, for it was easier to be out facing the mob than inside under susperse. They did not know but that I had to the flat at the increasant prayer for me by our young women and Christians. We saved from our ruined homes a cheap suit of clothes on our backs (mine were cheap and solled Chinese clothes, for I had been packing boxes), the little silver I procured for emergencies, the value of $25 in gold banknotes which Miss Hawes happened to have in her pocket and one hammer! These are now the worldly possessions of us three, but we do not care a cent!

Question of An Original Container.

LAW OF SEARCH WARRANTS

Interesting Legal Points Elucidated by Judge Humphreys in Ah Chong Case.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

What is an original container for epium or for any other importation upon which duties must be paid? The question came up in the Circuit Court before Judge Humphreys yesterday during the progress of the prosecution of Ah Chong, charged with selling oplum. It was a jury trial upon which the following jurors sat: Chas. N. Hose, Eugene P. Sullivan, E. B. Cunha, Wm. M. Graham, George E. Emithies, R. A. Dexter, F. H. Armstrong, F. W. Makinney, E. Oscar White, John H. Schnack, Jacob Lando, and Geo. S. Wells. Assistant Attorney General Robbins for prosecution, Robertson & Wilder and J. T. De Bolt for defendant.

The evidence of Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth for the prosecution was to the effect that he had made a raid upon the house of Ah Chong on Lillha street several months since, but without the formality of a search warrant. He had brought away from the house several articles to be used as evidence against the defendant, including the opium preparation, pipes and other paraphernalia incidental to an opium smoker's >outfit.

Officer Hanrahan who was to have meen placed on the stand to show that the had seen the defendant in the house at the time of the raid, was denied the privilege. Judge Humphreys in ruling supon the evidence called attention to United States statutes, 116, page 629. Under the authority cited Judge Humphreys stated in effect that articles obtained in a room, such as was intended to be produced by the prosecution, were not admissible as they were not taken property which they aver had been incorporated into the Waialua Plantation to be produced by the prosecution, were aunder the authority granted by a search warrant.

We have a law which provides how search warrants may be issued to podice officers," said Judge Humphreys, and they are the last officers or the tast persons who should go around breaking into peoples' houses without search warrants. Nobody's rights of liberty are safe if that may be done.' The authority upon which the Judge cased his ruling is found in the syllabus, as follows: Search and seizure of a man's private evidence against himself is equivalent to compelling him to be a witness against himself, and in the pros-ecution of a crime, penalty of for-feiture, is equally within the prohibition of the 5th amendment,

The question of the right to sell imported opium if in the original pack- ther obligation. ages was brought out at the close of the trial before the arguments were presented. The cplum which caused the trouble of Ah Chong was a small quantity which had been placed in the empty shell of a lichee nut. Judge Humphreys stated that under certain clroumstances the liches nut might be called an original container as he knew of Instances where opium had been brought into Hawali in shoes, in vegetables, in kerozene oll cans, etc. Atterney General Dole in reply thought At inconceivable that a licace nutshell was the original container for oplum, and it was beyond the bounds of comsmon sense that a single licher nutshell was the original container. The sale of tiquor as the sale of opium was within police power if not contained in the original package. There was the same right to prohibit the sale of liquor and

A dispatch to a news agency from Shanghai, dated August 23rd, says eight The American ship Maine arrived at survivors of the fourteen English missionaries who started together from Shan SI have reached Hankow after suffering frightful barbarities.

A Japanese soldler at Tien-tsin be came a martyr by deliberately going up to the city gates and applying a match to the gun cotton laid to blow them up, after the wires refused to work. Japan rejoices over the laurels her troops are receiving in China.

St. Petersburg dispatches announce good progress in the Manchurian campaign. The town of Margen was cap tured August 18th, with trifling Russian loss, while the Chinese suffered se-verely, leaving ten guns, 700 rifles, and large quantities of ammunition in the hands of the Russians.

Admiral Courrejolies, the French commander in Chinese waters, cabled to the Navy Department here under date of Aug. 28, that a council of the admirals notified the foreign legations at Peking that it was decided to hold Li Hung Chang on board ship until the opening of negotiations between the powers and China.

Li Hung Chang has received word that the allies entered Peking easily, because the troops of General Tung Fuh Siang utterly refused to face the allies. According to the Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Express, Earl Li, recognizing the futility of an attempt to drive the foreigners from China, now professes conversion to reform principles.

Neither the commanders nor the dipomats were in communication with the Chinese government on August 17th. They were then searching for Prince Tuan. Among the puzzling reports as to the whereabouts of the Empress Dowager is one from St. Petersburg that she is in the vicinity of Peking, but surrounded. The Emperor seems to have disappeared empletely.

All the dispatches point to the fact that when the latest message reaching London left Peking the commanders were somewhat at sea regarding their future actions, all awaiting instructions from their governments. The foreign residents appear to have been sent to Tien-Tsin, aithough the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Mail says the Ministers will not leave Peking untll negotiations for indemnity are under way.

General Chaffee, so it is asserted maintained that the Chinese had been adequately punished already and that it would be unwise to take the imperial palace. This explains the withdrawal of the Americans after breaching three gates, as cabled by the special corres pondent of the Associated Press, Russian general, however, maintained that his government had declared war against China, and that, therefore there was no reason to prevent him carrying hostilities into the sacred Shanghal advices of Aug. 24 announce the receipt there of a Chinese official dispatch asserting that Emperor Kwang Hsu has been found and rescued by the Japanese.

A Peking dispatch of August 16th says: The Pei Tang Cathedral, north of the city, which was garrisoned by thirty French and ten Italian blue-jackets, and which had no communication with the other foreigners during the progress of the siege, has been relieved by the Japanese and British.
